

College students often struggle to find reliable study partners or group members who match their learning style and schedule